

2019 Colloquium for Undergraduate & Graduate Students

Enhancing Environmental Quality through Property Rights and Markets

June 23-28, 2019, Bozeman, Montana

- Do you care about the environment?
 - Are you an innovative thinker?
 - Are you hungry for a deep dive into creative conservation?

Co-sponsored with Liberty Fund, Inc., this free colloquium is designed to introduce students to a property rights and market based approach to environmental issues.

We are looking for students from diverse backgrounds and majors (i.e., natural resources, economics, hard sciences, social sciences, journalism, ethics, math, sustainability, marketing, business, liberal arts, engineering) who are critical thinkers with an interest in creating innovative solutions to complex environmental challenges.

Students can apply online at PERC.org. Accepted applicants will receive a scholarship for tuition, meals, lodging, and a travel stipend.

The application deadline is March 1, 2019. Email students@PERC for more information.
